

ethikos Volume 34, Number 5. May 01, 2020 Mitigation or suppression: Ethical choices for organizations during the pandemic

By Sascha Matuszak

The March 19 issue of The Economist^[1] discusses the stark choice ahead for healthcare workers, executives, and civic leaders to either suppress the infection rate through extreme lockdown procedures or mitigate it with less extreme measures.

This document is only available to subscribers. Please log in or purchase access

Purchase Login