

ethikos Volume 33, Number 10. October 01, 2019 South Florida healthcare facility owner sentenced to 20 years in prison

On September 12, the U.S. Department of Justice announced, “A federal district judge sentenced a south Florida health care facility owner to 20 years in prison today after being found guilty in the largest health care fraud scheme charged by the U.S. Justice Department. The case involves a decades-long scheme of kickbacks and money laundering in connection with fraudulent claims to Medicare and Medicaid for services deemed medically unnecessary.”
